A change in ownership with Bar T Rodeo has presented a situation where they may not be treated as favorably with the stock they receive. Kunau preferred placing the building on the back or east lot paralleling the Judicial Center with the main entrance on the west only to accommodate security if needed at the entrance.

- ii) There will be a zoning hearing coming up in April. There are two zoning amendments and conditional use permit applications. One is for an extension of an existing CAFO and the other is a CAFO that has been in the works for some time that they are expressing interest in completing that.
- i) 10:19 AM Misdemeanor Probation - Amber Prewitt
 - i) Prewitt reported they currently have 1,020 on active probation and pre-trial is at 454.
 - ii) They have a new employee, Paul Gibson, who recently started. He came from the MCCJC and has been in training for the past week and a half. He will go to POST in August.
 - iii) She reported that the Supreme Court has notified them that probation, pre-trial, and specialty courts software with Odyssey will not be upgraded by the Courts moving to a cloud-based solution.
 - iv) This is problematic in that every probation office let go of their case management solution as they were mandated by the Supreme Court to go to the Odyssey Court Management System.
- j) 10:31 AM Clerk - Joe Larsen
 - i) Larsen reported as a follow up to Prewitt's discussion regarding Tyler Technologies' supervisor module is moving to a cloud-based solution with the Supreme Court. Tyler intends to retire the current module which will not be supported in the cloud-based system. The Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) is exploring options for that cloud-based system. They did infer that they had received funding for a portion of the costs for that solution. That may mean that we could be expected to bear some of the costs at a local level of the new system as before. He felt if they demanded that a new system be used, the Supreme Court should bear the cost as they are doing currently. We may need to consider budgeting costs for that in the County.
 - ii) Cassia County was fortunate to join with another court district with the implementation of a new Enterprise Jury Management (EJM) system that works parallel to Odyssey to replace our basic and outdated program running on the AS400 server. That new module will "go live" on Friday, 3/31/2023. Costs will be minimal for the EJM. Cassia will be the first county in the 5th Judicial District to use the new jury module.
 - iii) The FY2024 budget process we are about to begin with includes statutorily that the budget officer must provide departments with their budget papers on or before 5/1/2023 with a deadline for return on Monday, 5/15/2023. To prepare for that, he recommended that department heads and elected officials review the last section of their budget books from FY2023 to see the highlighted statutory requirements for budgeting. Many of the questions asked so far are answered there.
 - iv) A new irrigation district may be forming in the county, and may be on the ballot in an upcoming election.
 - v) The CAI software that is used by the county acquired by Harris Technologies about a year ago. There have been meetings regarding the future of the software and it has been determined by a county clerk's advisory committee, of which Larsen is a member, and Harris that they will pursue a cloud-based solution built on a more modern platform as opposed to the current PLEX-based system. That system has had issues and programmers are difficult to find with PLEX knowledge. An increase in cost is anticipated with any software solution available to Idaho. Tyler Technologies will present their financial solution to the county in April. Recent cost estimates were received from one vendor, Central Square software, with costs estimated at triple or current costs. We have discounted entertaining that company.
 - vi) Legislation was passed and the Governor signed into law the preparatory process of transitioning from a County-based public defender system to a State of Idaho-based delivery of those services. County sponsorship of that will end at the conclusion of FY2024 on 9/30/2023.

 - f) It was discussed to reassemble a previous group that involved eight counties collaborating for a preferred transmission route for each county.
